*Washington University's Brown School of Social Work
presents 2009 Distinguished Alumni Award to Continuum's Barth Holohan*

ST. LOUIS (May 1, 2009) – Barth Holohan was one of three distinguished alumni honored by Washington University's Brown School at its annual alumni awards celebration at Whitaker Hall on the university's Danforth Campus.

Holohan received both master of social work and master of business administration degrees from Washington University in 2001. Since then, he has remained committed to ensuring a greater quality of life for older adults.

In addition to being the co-founder and co-owner of Family Partners Adult Day Services, Holohan is founder and president of St. Louis-based Continuum, which provides private duty home care, nursing, retirement community programs, personal emergency medical response systems, and geriatric care management. In addition to serving on many boards, Barth was a 2005 Ernst & Young Entrepreneur of the year finalist. In 2007 he was awarded the St. Louis Business Journal 40 under 40 Award and the SSM Health Care Stewardship Award.

"I am truly grateful to be recognized by such a prestigious organization. I am committed to my life's work of helping others, particularly seniors, and receiving the Distinguished Alumni award encourages me to continue those duties,” says Holohan. “My life’s passion is to offer personally responsive services to assist the frail elderly to age in place, which I am doing at Continuum.”

Other 2009 alumni award recipients included Rita Montgomery Hollie, BA '69, MSW/JD '73; a founder and partner of a St. Louis-based law firm specializing in adoption and family law; and Suda Nair, MSW '91, deputy head of the Department of Social Work at the National University of Singapore.
